About Valley Rock Inn & Mountain Club

Valley Rock Inn & Mountain Club is located 30 miles from the George Washington Bridge and is about an hour from most of Manhattan. The property is in the Village of Sloatsburg, New York, which is located in the foothills of the Ramapo Mountains, surrounded by 70,000 acres of forever-wild parkland of Harriman State Park and Sterling Forest with trails and lakes in every direction.

The property has a dozen historic house and barn buildings that form a wall around an interior garden—creating a protected oasis. There are four renovated guesthouses consisting of 17 bedrooms and 16 baths, an organic market and two with a 75-foot pool, a 7,000-square-foot gym, led hiking, biking and kayaking programs. They offer year-round wellness and fitness programs that incorporate healthy eating and exercise in the great outdoors.

About Michael Bruno:

Michael Bruno is an Internet and real estate entrepreneur. He is the founder of 1stdibs, the world's premier online luxury marketplace in twenty-two countries around the world. Currently, he is launching a new transformative real estate venture, Valley Rock Inn & Mountain Club, this fall in Rockland County, New York.

A passionate collector of historic homes and a steward of land preservation, Bruno, who lives in Tuxedo Park, New York, is working on a master plan for the Tuxedo-Sloatsburg Corridor revitalization project. His company, The Tuxedo Hudson Company, was awarded $1,750,000 in grants from New York to create the new "Gateway to the Hudson Valley."

A native of Larchmont, New York, Bruno believes in using an organic process in his projects. He says, "Have big ideas but be ok with starting small without hesitation and see where it goes...For example, there is much more to our current Rockland County real estate venture than meets the eye."

Bruno's accolades include: "Pillar of New York" by the Preservation League of New York, "Visionary" by the Lighthouse Guild as a "Visionary," and "Innovator" by The Sir John Soane Museum Foundation. These are among several awards he has received from the design industry for his many contributions.

He sits on the boards of the Orange County Land Trust and the Museum of the City of New York. He has been featured in the Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, ELLE Décor, Financial Times, TIME, Architectural Digest (France and Germany) among others.
