YOUTH PROGRAM

The New Paltz Youth Program

Driving down Main Street you may think this is an ordinary residence; but for local students, this is a place of gathering and learning. The New Paltz Youth Program, which began in response to the town's middle and high school students requesting a "place of our own in this college town," provides an oasis to play sports or games, do homework, or simply relax. On-site tutoring, mentoring, and field trips to job and service opportunities are also offered. New Paltz; www.newpaltzyouthprogram.org your space and your needs. Your custom closet (no two are alike) will be installed with white-glove service on a timeline that works for you. New City, Hawthorne;

COMMUNITY

FRIEND TO FARMERS

Patricia Wind, Farms2Tables

A New York-born Culinary Institute of America grad, Patricia Wind makes eating locally and sustainably more accessible with her company Farms2Tables: an app that connects local Hudson Valley farmers to our favorite farm-to-table restaurants in the area. With almost 100 farms serviced and 450 buyers recorded, Farms2Tables has successfully distributed 1.5 million pounds of local food.

CAFE FOR CAT LOVERS

Morgan's Cat Café

With a new location and vegan burger menu, Morgan's aims to provide a bright, comfortable space for cat lovers to congregate and cats to find a new home. This nonprofit animal rescue organization, situated in a historic Red Hook building, is a great place for kids and adults — think events like rescue training and cat lovers' singles nights. PRESERVATIONIST

Michael Bruno

Through founding the Tuxedo Hudson Realty group, Bruno has sunk plenty of money into renewing this gated community at the base of the Ramapo Mountains, transforming many derelict properties into luxurious chalets. His efforts toward the preservation of historic buildings in Sloatsburg, including his work on the Valley Rock Inn development, earned him the 2018's Pillar of New York Award from the Preservation League of New York State.
